FLYING HOMEWARD.

The Presidential Party En Route to Washington.

STOPPING PLACES ON THE WAY.

Thousands of People Welcome Him to the Capital of Illinois—The Lincoln Monument Visited—Back to His Home in Indianapolis—His Journey Almost Ended.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 15.—Thousands of visitors from neighboring towns helped the people of Springfield welcome President Harrison to the Flower City yesterday. Perfect weather and plenty of enthusiasm made the short stay of the distinguished guest a pleasant one, and excellent arrangements caused the reception to take place without a hitch.

At Springfield junction, a short distance from the city, Governor Fifer, Senators Cullom and Palmer, Congressman Springer, Mayor Lawrence and other prominent persons, met the president at 9:15 o'clock. Notice that the president had arrived at the station was given to the crowds in the streets by a presidential salute fired by state troops. Carriages in waiting were placed in the center of a procession composed of National Guard organizations, Grand Army posts, Sons of Veterans and secret societies, and the president was escorted through the principal streets to the Lincoln monument, the organizations taking part in the procession, proceeding a part of the way in electric cars in order to let the carriages make better time.

A temporary stand at the monument accommodated the presidential party and their hosts during the exercises. Mayor Lawrence presided. Governor Fifer delivered an address of welcome to which the president made brief answer, which was received with enthusiasm by the several thousand people packed about the stand. This concluded the exercises and the visitors were driven rapidly under an escort of mounted aides to the state house. Another great crowd surrounded the platform in front of the capitol. A few minutes were spent here, the president making brief remarks to the assembly, and carriages were again taken out for a drive. At the specified time the train left for Indianapolis at 10:20 o'clock.

At Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 15.—After a journey through Illinois marked by a continuous ovation, the last two receptions—those at Tuscola and Chrisman being particularly enthusiastic, President Harrison entered his own state shortly after 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and fifteen minutes later, at Montezuma, he was surrounded by many old friends who had come down from Indianapolis to welcome him home.

The Indianapolis contingent was composed of committees from every political society and business organization in that city. It consisted of 300 persons, representing the Hendricks club, the Gray club, the Columbia club and other political organizations, all state officers, judges of the supreme, appellate, Federal and county courts, all United States officers, all city officers and members of the municipal boards, all county officers and the county commissioners, representatives of all the fifty-two labor organizations in the city, officers of the state militia, delegates from the Commercial club and board of trade, the department commander and staff of the Grand Army with a representative from each post; representatives of the military order of the Loyal Legion, Union Veteran Legion and Sons of Veterans.

Governor Hovey, Senator Turpie, ex-Governor Gray, Lieutenant Governor Chase, Judge Woods, of the United States court, ex-Congressman Peelle and Mayor Sullivan were among those in the party, and these with a number of others, mostly personal friends and neighbors of the president, accompanied him to Indianapolis, the others proceeding ahead in the train that brought them to Montezuma. A cheer went up from the Montezuma people and the Indianapolis representatives as the president came out on the platform of the observing car. "He was presented to the crowd by ex-Congressman Johnson, and in a voice trembling with feeling made a brief speech.

During the twenty minutes stop at Montezuma the president shook hands with a large number of persons whom he knew. It was like a family reunion. At Rochdale, the president received another enthusiastic welcome, but he did not address the crowd. The presidential train arrived in the Union station at 4:45 o'clock. Booming of cannon and shrieking of whistles announced the approach of their distinguished townsman to the Indianapolis people, several thousand of whom were assembled in and about the station. These broke into prolonged cheering as the president stepped from the platform with Governor Hovey. Escorted by the committee that met him at Montezuma, the president walked through the station to Jackson place, directly opposite, and took his place on a stand erected there. Thousands of people were crowded on all sides of the platform, and they cheered the president heartily. In response to addresses of welcome by Governor Hovey and Mayor Sullivan, the president made an eloquent speech.

After brief speeches by Postmaster General Wanamaker and Secretary Rusk the president and party entered carriages and were escorted by military, political and other organizations through the principal streets, around the circle and back to the Union station. Old friends cheered and waved handkerchiefs from the crowded side walks as the president's carriage passed along the line of march and many pushed past the policemen to grasp his hand. The applause was continuous from the beginning of the route to the end. Postmaster General Wanmaker received a cordial greeting from the letter carriers of the city who were massed in a body on one of the streets.

At the station hundreds of people pressed forward to shake hands with the president, and as the train drew out at 5:30 o'clock many rushed after the train, endeavoring to get a farewell grasp. A parting cheer burst from the concourse, and the president's brief visit to his old home was over. Mrs. Harrison and the ladies of the party did not leave the train and held an informal reception to many of their friends.

Buildings Burned.

HARDY, Neb., May 15.—Nine buildings in the heart of the business part of town were destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $50,000; insurance one-half.

A DIPLOMATIC BOYCOTT.

Latin-American Representatives Ignored by the Europeans.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The Herald's Washington special says:

There is trouble in the diplomatic corps. The Europeans—to use a distinguishing term—have boycotted the Central and South Americans and no end of ill-feeling has resulted from it. For years the entente cordiale between the two factions has been severely strained. The Europeans affect to regard the representatives of the Latin-American republics as uncultured and socially inferior to them. The Latin-Americans, on the other hand, insist that the Europeans are jealous of the favors shown them by the people of the United States, and that this, and this alone, is the real cause of the difficulty.

This was the situation when the Pan-American congress assembled eighteen months ago. The purpose of the congress was to strengthen the relation of the several republics to each other and bring them into a close commercial and fraternal intimacy. The great states of Europe, which are interested in the rich trade of those countries, followed the sessions of the congress with deep interest, and when it was seen how strongly marked the preference of the South Americans was for the United States, the diplomatic representatives of Europe retaliated by organizing a social boycott against them. This, you must understand, is the story the South Americans tell.

They will tell you, also, if they feel they can talk with you confidentially, numerous instances which illustrate the truth of this statement. Quite recently, for example, the German minister gave a banquet to celebrate his birthday. All the members of the diplomatic corps were invited with the exception of the representatives from the Latin-American states.

On another occasion the secretary of a great continental power met the secretary of a certain South American legation. With some embarrassment he informed the latter of his personal regard for him, but begged, as a favor, that their future intercourse be limited to a strict observance of polite conventionalities and nothing more. He frankly added that the prejudices of his European confreres against the Latin-Americans was so great that he dared not run counter to it, notwithstanding he did not share in these prejudices himself.

And so matters have gone on growing worse with each succeeding day, until a personal encounter between the hot-blooded young men of the respective factions is quite probable.

In fact, some of the South Americans feel so keenly the slight that has been put upon them that several of the number are talking of forcing a duel upon the Europeans as the only means of vindicating their honor. Whether they will do so or not is an open question. They are certainly angry enough to proceed to any extreme.

Steamers Collide.

LONDON, May 15.—At 11 o'clock last night off Europa Point, Gibraltar, near the spot on March 16 last, the ill-fated steamer Utopia sank, the British steamship Buccaneer bound from the Mediterranean for an English port collided with the Italian steamship Stura, Capt. Valis, bound from various Mediterranean ports for New York. The Stura had on board a large number of emigrants for the United States. A panic ensued, but the officers finally succeeded in restoring order. Investigation showed that the bows of the Stura had been stove, and that the starboard side of the Buccaneer had been badly damaged. No one was injured. Both steamers will remain until they can be repaired. The 850 emigrant passengers of the Stura will be sent to their destination on another steamer.

Boilermakers.

ST. LOUIS, May 15.—At yesterday's session of the Boilermakers' association, the report of the committee on the uniform inspection was adopted. It recommends that efforts be made to secure the passing of a National inspection law and in the event of a failure in that direction, the passing of state laws classifying boilers into four classes. It was decided to hold the next convention in Buffalo on the second Tuesday of June, 1892. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, James Lappan, Pittsburg; first vice president, Philip Rohan, St. Louis; second vice president, James Kinney, St. Paul; third vice president, Charles Kroeschell, Chicago; treasurer, Richard Hammond, Buffalo; secretary, E. D. Meir, St. Louis.

The Czarewicz All O. K.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 15.—The government is in receipt of advices from the physician of the czarewicz which announce that the imperial patient is making satisfactory progress toward complete recovery from the effects of the wound which he recently received. The Mikado and the various members of the imperial Japanese family, as well as the great state dignitaries, have been solicitous in their attendance on the czarewicz, and it is announced they will accompany him to Kobe on the bay of Hiogo, where he will board a Russian war vessel and depart for Vladivostok.

TRAINS DELAYED.

Caused by a Strike of the Chicago Switchmen.

AN IMPORTANT LOCKOUT.

A Conference Held but No Conclusion Reached and the Prospects Are Good for a Long and Bitter Struggle—Various Other Dispatches Relating to Strikes and Other Labor Troubles.

CHICAGO, May 15.—At 9 o'clock Wednesday night a conference was held between General Manager Whitman, General Superintendent Sanborn and the division superintendents. It was agreed, after the work of the day had been freely canvassed, that affairs were in excellent shape, and it was decided to receive freight from eastern connections when business opened in the morning. Reports received from along the line by General Manager Whitman showed that the change was easily and quietly done.

In Milwaukee, the point next in importance to Chicago, the worst delays were experienced as only a two-thirds force was at work in the freight yards at that place. At all other points everything was moving smoothly.

Secretary Hall, of the Switchmen's association, received a message last night from President Sargent, of the supreme council of the United Order of Railway Employees, saying that the supreme council would meet here next Saturday to investigate the grievances of the discharged switchmen.

The circular announcing the discharge of the switchmen stated that in reorganizing the switching service, preference would be given to such men previously employed as were, in the judgment of the company, capable and worthy, otherwise their positions would at once be filled by other men arranged for. Quite a number availed themselves of the offer and went to work with the new men, and the company claims that with its new force it has been able to handle all its passenger and suburban business and perishable freight.

About 200 policemen are stationed at different points in the city. About fifty men of this force were stationed at each of the North avenue and Wood street yards, the most threatening points. The precaution of massing a larger force at these two points than at any other proved a wise one, as mobs of angry switchmen assembled at both places. They were excited and demonstrative but refrained from any serious outbreak, being apparently over-awed by the superior force of police.

The company claims that it is being supported by all the orders belonging to the Federation of Railway Employees except the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association. All train men are doing the work of the discharged switchmen. A committee representing the men who were discharged called on General Manager Whitman yesterday and asked for a conference looking toward an adjustment of the trouble. The conference lasted some time.

In regard to the action of the Northwestern Railway company in discharging the men, Secretary Hall last night denied the statement made by the officials of that road that the men had broken the constitution and by-laws of the United Order of Railway Employees or of the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association.

Dispatches from Fort Howard, Escanaba, Baraboo, Milwaukee, Winona, Council Bluffs, Boone and Des Moines, state that the new men are working well.

"This is not a fight directed against unions, nor is it instituted for any question of wages," said President Marvin Huggitt, of the road, "but a simple matter of discipline." For the last two years the officials of this road have been humiliated by its employees. We now propose to ascertain who is running the Northwestern railroad. As to our plan, all I can say is that it has been well arranged, and I feel confident of success."

Ohio Miners' Strike Settled.

COLUMBUS, O., May 15.—The trouble between the Ohio coal miners and operators is finally settled. Both parties to the controversy were anxious to avert a strike and the feeling led to mutual concessions. There was a thorough discussion of the entire situation and the operators succeeded in convincing the miners' representatives that they were not in position to grant the demands. The latter, willing to make concessions in the interest of harmony, modified their claims. The miners at last conceded all their demands except that with regard to the price of turning rooms, which remains the same as entry work, $7 or $8 per room. This increases the total cost of coal only four-fifths of a cent a ton.

Indiana Miners Idle.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 15.—The trouble among miners in this section of the state is not yet over and the prospects are not very bright for an early settlement. Many factories here are closed on account of scarcity of coal. The bituminous operators and miners have had a joint scale committee together for the past twenty-four hours in this city. Both sides are decided and the result cannot be guessed. The miners hold out for seventy cents per ton and the operators refuse to pay more than sixty-five cents. Yesterday the block coal miners were in mass-meeting at Brazil. Seven thousand miners are idle in this section.

Affairs at Omaha.

OMAHA, May 15.—The Northwestern road discharged the eleven union switchmen employed in its Council Bluffs yards yesterday, and filled their places with brakemen and non-union men. About 100 switchmen on the Iowa division have been dropped. The officials say they will re-employ the old men if they do not insist on the switchmen's union being recognized. There was no trouble at Council Bluffs and none is looked for.

Strike in Brussels.

BRUSSELS, May 15.—The iron workers and other employees of the electric machinery manufacturers have gone out on a strike. Soon after the strike was inaugurated a mob assembled, smashing the lights of the electric light companies. The crowd was promptly followed up by the gendarmes, who succeeded in placing twenty of them under arrest.

Settlers Missing.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., May 15.—A report comes from Pike lake that two settlers in that vicinity are missing, and it is feared they perished in the forest fires. A searching party has been organized.

SECRETARY BLAINE'S CONDITION.

He is Growing Much Better and Will Soon Return to Washington.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Mr. Blaine is very much better this morning. He passed a good night and expects to sit up to-day. He expects to go to Washington on Saturday, but further than that his plans are not complete.

Mrs. Blaine said to a United Press reporter that it was barely possible that she and her husband would leave for Washington to-morrow. There are many important matters in the state department which require the secretary's personal attention, and for this reason Mr. Blaine is desirous of returning to his post in Washington as soon as possible. Mrs. Blaine favors the program of a visit to Washington, followed by a departure for the summer home at Bar Harbor.

A RECKLESS BARBER

Narrowly Misses Shooting a Young Lady at a Church Festival.

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., May 15.—Ed. Montgomery, a white barber, went into the Western Union telegraph office to see the operator Tuesday night, when the manager, Hugh Allen, ordered him out, saying no one was allowed behind the railing. Shortly after Allen crossed the street where a church supper was in progress. He was met by Montgomery who attacked him and drawing a pistol fired. The bullet missed Allen and imbedded itself in the wall close to the head of Miss Jessie Lain. Montgomery was arrested.

Trying to Sneak Out.

NEW ORLEANS, May 15.—A committee of the grand jury called on Consul Corte yesterday, and asked him for the names of the plotters whom he alleged had intended to assassinate the mayor and others, but whose lives were saved through his mediation. The consul informed the committee that he had been misinterpreted by the newspapers. He had said there was a strong feeling among the Italians as in all other places in America, and he like other consuls, had used his best efforts in the interest of peace and quiet. Consul Corte will take his departure from the city to-morrow evening.

War Ship Saved.

LONDON, May 15.—Advices have been received here to the effect that the British war ship Undaunted, under command of Lord Charles Beresford, assisted by the British gun-boat Melita, after infinite difficulties, succeeded in saving the French man-of-war Seignelay, which was ashore at Jaffa, a town of Palestine, on the Mediterranean. The Seignelay was in a very bad position, and was almost about to be abandoned, owing to stress of weather.

After the Itata.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 15.—A dispatch from Acapulco has been received here to the effect that the Chilean cruiser Esmeralda has left that port after having requested several favors which were refused. The vessel is well armed and equipped. Her officers received telegrams from the United States and the vessel then sailed in a northerly direction, presumably to meet the Itata.

Taking the Strikers' Places.

SCOTSDALE, Pa., May 15.—A large number of new hands to take the places of the strikers arrived here last night. One of the strikers who came through with the new hands from Pittsburg, says that they will go to work in the places of the old hands. Yesterday was a sort of a moving day in the valley. Those who were dispossessed were moving their goods into the opera house.

Oil Works Burned.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—Shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday fire was discovered in the Belmont Oil works, at Point Breeze, as it is at this time supposed from an explosion. The fire is raging furiously, and it is believed will involve the destruction of the entire plant. The wires in that direction are all down, and it is impossible to obtain details.

Testing Smokeless Powder.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 15.—The Australian Mannlicher rifle has been subjected to a number of tests by the board of army officers at the United States armory here. Wetterin and Austrian smokeless powder were used. The tests were highly successful both for rapid firing and accuracy.

Murdered in a Tenement House.

JERSEY CITY, May 15.—A woman named Bridget Kaifron was murdered in the tenement, No. 161 Steuben street, at 5:30 yesterday evening. Her husband, who was bleeding from a wound on the head, told the police that his wife had been murdered by man named Kerrigan.

Freight Wreck.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 15.—A serious freight wreck occurred on the Northern Central railway near Mahanoy yesterday afternoon, caused by a broken axle. No one is reported hurt, but over half the train, which was composed of oil and grain cars, is reported burned. Passenger trains are held at Sunbury.

No one seems anxious to make the race for Representative. Has it come to this in old Mason? Will the office have to seek the man?

Next Sunday will be observed throughout the country, as Children's Day, among the Southern Methodists. An appropriate programme has been prepared. The offerings by the children will be used to help destitute Sunday schools and assist in organizing others.

HERRAPTER Democratic primaries in Nicholas County must be held within four months of the regular election and not sooner. A good idea. This will put a stop to candidates working up the nominating convention about two years before they expect to be elected. A four-months campaign will suit the people much better than a year's pulling and hauling.

BROTHER KELLAR, of the Carlisle Mercury, invested some of his spare cash in the "boom" town of Rockwood, Tenn., a year or so ago. He now says that "like a party who had invested in another boom town in an adjoining State, he had paid something like $100 per foot for land, and he was willing to sell one hundred feet for $1.

Better invest your cash where values are not away up "out of sight"—where there is some stability in the real estate market—right here in Maysville for instance.

IN DISTANT IRELAND,

A Brother of Mr. M. R. Gilmore Laid to Rest, at Ballygar.

Mr. M. R. Gilmore has received the sad news of the death of his brother B. Gilmore, who passed away at Ballygar, Ireland, a few days ago. A correspondent of the Western News and Weekly Examiner, of Balinasloe, says:

Deceased was a young man in the prime of life, of splendid physique, and until very recently robust health. About four months ago he received a severe shock from attack of bronchitis which gradually developed into a rapid consumption, and it was for the last month apparent to the friends of the deceased that there was for him no hope for recovery, and he gradually sank till on Monday morning he expired calmly in the arms of a sorrow stricken mother, and surrounded by a large circle of family friends. For the last seven years deceased carried on a monumental business in Ballygar, and being a thoroughly practical sculptor, and understanding the business of a marble yard in all its branches, his work was considered inferior to any of a similar kind produced in Ireland. He also had a licensed premises in connection with the monumental yard, and his splendid business qualities, his kindness and affability commanded the respect of all classes. Ever ready to do a good turn, never known to injure, always foremost in any good work for the benefit of the town or its inhabitants, a kind friend to the poor of Ballygar, a zealous and devout Catholic whose love of religion was equalled only by his love of country, can it be wondered at that he deserved the confidence and respect of his fellow townsmen? He belonged to one of the oldest and most respected families in the locality: a family which has given to the United States that celebrated musical genius—P. S. Gilmore, whose name is a household word in almost every country of Europe, and of whom Ballygar is justly proud. Deceased was a brother to Mr. T. J. Gilmore and Mr. M. R. Gilmore, of Maysville, Ky.

The remains, enclosed in a beautifully mounted oak coffin, were conveyed to the Roman Catholic Church, Ballygar, and at 11 o'clock on Wednesday morning the celebration of High Mass was begun by Father Sloane, assisted by Fathers Lynch and MacManus. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the relatives of the deceased accompanied by a large circle of sympathetic friends took their seats around the coffin and remained there till 2, the hour appointed for the funeral. At 2 the remains were again removed from the church, the decoration and renovation of which was, only a short time ago, superintended by him whose remains were now carried forth to that narrow resting place he was too early destined to occupy. The funeral, one of the largest seen in Ballygar for years, testified fully the esteem in which the late Mr. Gilmore was held, and as the immense crowd of pedestrians, accompanied by about fifty cars, moved towards the Killoran graveyard, the expressions of sorrow for the deceased and sympathy with his family, heard on every side, showed he died universally regretted. The coffin bore the following inscription:

BERNARD GILMORE,
 Died April 20th, 1891.
 Aged 31 years.

"The Spanish Conspiracy."

All who wish to learn the facts concerning an interesting event in the early history of Kentucky should read Mr. Thomas M. Green's book, "The Spanish Conspiracy." It is written in the author's terse, vigorous and entertaining style, and will no doubt find a ready sale throughout the State. Price, $2. It will be sent by mail prepaid on receipt of price, by Mr. Green.

It contains "a review of the early Spanish movements in the Southwest, containing proofs of the intrigues of James Wilkinson and John Brown; of the complicity therewith of Judges Sebastian, Wallace and Inns; the early struggles of Kentucky for autonomy; the intrigues of Sebastian in 1795-7 and the Legislative investigation of his corruption. The proofs referred to, and which are adduced in this book, consist of General Wilkinson's letters to Miro, the Intendant of Louisiana, and of the confidential communications of the latter to the Court of Madrid; of the official dispatch of Don Diego Gardoqui to the same court; of John Brown's own letters and proved utterances; of the testimony and sworn evidence of members of the Danville conventions of July and November, 1788; of Sebastian's own confession; of the testimony of members of the Legislative Committee which investigated Sebastian's corruptions in 1806; of the sworn evidence of Daniel Clark and Thomas Power; of the subterfuges, suppressions, concealments and misstatements to which the conspirators resorted to hide their guilt, and of the tergiversations of all their adherents."

Didn't Understand Bidding.

"At one of the Cincinnati warehouses last week an unknown young man bid very lively on a hoghead of tobacco, which the auctioneer finally knocked down to him at $16," says the Western Journal. "After the sales he entered the warehouse office and laid down $16, saying he wanted to pay for 'that tobacco down stairs.' When told that that amount only paid for a hundred pounds, and that he would have to pay $200 more, he cried like a child until released from his bid. It was afterwards learned that the young man manufactures stogies, and was not up in the burley business. He hasn't been seen around any warehouse since."

The Ladies Delighted.

The pleasant effect and the perfect safety with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, gentle, yet effectual in acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels.

Republican State Convention.

The Republican State convention, which meets on the 20th instant at Lexington, will be held in the large auditorium at the Chautauqua Assembly grounds. The hotels offer reduced rates to delegates, and the Kentucky Central will sell tickets at one fare for the round trip. The Mason County delegation will leave on Tuesday afternoon.

BABY IS SICK—The woeful expression of a Des Moines teamster's countenance showed his deep anxiety was not entirely without cause, when he enquired of a druggist of the same city, what was best to give a baby for a cold? It was not necessary for him to say more, his countenance showed that the pet of the family if not the idol of his life, was in distress. "We give our baby Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," was the druggist's answer. "I don't like to give the baby such strong medicine," said the teamster. "You know John Oleson, of the Waters-Talbot Printing Co., don't you?" inquired the druggist. "His baby, when eighteen months old, got hold of a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and drank the whole of it. Of course it made the baby vomit very freely, but did not injure it in the least, and what is more, it cured the baby's cold. The teamster readily knew the value of the Remedy, having used it himself, and was now satisfied that there was no danger in giving it even to a baby. For sale by Power & Reynolds.

THE CONVENTION.

The State Democracy Still at Work at Louisville Selecting a Ticket.

Extracts From the Speeches Nominating the Candidates for Governor.

The many contested delegations in the State Democratic convention at Louisville have delayed the work of selecting a ticket.

The Committee on Credentials was not ready to report when the convention re-assembled at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and a re-call of the counties was made for nominations for Governor. The candidates had all been named except Clardy, and Hon. James A. McKenzie presented Christian County's choice in the most eloquent speech so far heard in the convention. He said: "I come as a Democrat, reverencing the traditions of my party, to present to this representative assemblage of my party convened for good counsel and wise action, for the highest office in the gift of the people of Kentucky, an humble tiller of the soil. A man not born to the purple, not reared in silken cloth, but who, with steady hand and unflinching nerve, in his boyhood put his hand to the plow, and with patient toil and honest purpose, has wrought his way, under adverse legislation against his craft, the first and noblest ordained of God, to competence and distinction. He believes the spade and the plow are badges which confer a higher distinction than the gewgaws of royalty or the mailed hands and drawn daggers of the books of heraldry. Realizing as he does that the farming classes have been discriminated against by unjust and invidious legislation—that their petitions for redress have been spurned from the foot of the throne of Federal power—knowing that the invasion of the Sheriff with his hand full of executions—the maturing mortgage—the stringency of the money markets—the low prices of his products—the decreasing value of his lands—the increase of taxes with no corresponding benefit—have driven the farmers into an organization for their protection, numbering more than two millions of men; an organization that extends from Manitoba to the Gulf, from the Pacific slope to the Atlantic coast; notwithstanding all this, he has resolutely remained within the fold of the Democratic party and has striven with voice and pen to induce the farmers to seek redress of all their grievances within the lines of Democratic organization. The farmers' organization is no longer a suppliant. It is no longer helpless. On every hillside, in every valley, school house, church and grange hall, the farmers are meeting, deliberating, organizing. Upon their mighty energies in connection with the Democratic party depend the weight of the empire. May it please God they may be so directed that the largest good may be accomplished, not for themselves alone, but for every man who toils. May it please God that they join hands with the Democratic party, and with that united force the earth will tremble under their martial tread, as they march to the accomplishment of the task of righting the legislative wrongs of the past quarter of a century.

"The establishment of the domination of the people rather than that of trusts and monopoly.

"The restoration of silver coin to the dignity it has held since the Christian era.

"No taxation beyond the public necessities.

"This is a simple, comprehensive creed. I invoke upon this convention the spirit of harmony and good counsel. I ask for the candidate I shall present the careful consideration of your judgement. He is a true man, a brave man, a capable man and a Democrat who has labored to keep our ranks unbroken, and, if elected, will cause no blush of shame to mantle the cheek of any Kentuckian. I nominate John D. Clardy for the office of Governor of the State of Kentucky."

In nominating Colonel John Young Brown, Hon. Reuben A. Miller, of Owensboro, said: "He is a man who has met the enemies of his party in stern, honorable and victorious battle since the days of his boyhood, and he is one whose political successes and accomplishments in statecraft were familiar to all men these twenty-five or thirty years ago. At an unusually early period of his life, and even before the law of the land could give its sanction, the partiality of his countrymen had thrown around him the toga virilis of the statesman which in the same act was denied to age and experience arrayed in determined but inglorious competition; and since that time passing years have only served to ripen the genius and bring fruition to the promise of his youth.

"His public life is known of all men. It is a part of the history of his country, while his private and personal character, adorned with all the graces of good citizenship, are pledge and guaranty of the fidelity with which he would guard the trust committed to his keeping.

"Although distinguished by that retiring modesty that ever marks true worth and contents the meritorious in private station, he is, in truth, as he is everywhere recognized to be, one of the ablest living doctrinaires of the Democratic faith.

"A student of conditions as well as of theories, of a broad and liberal culture, embracing alike the excellence of polite learning and the sedate lessons of philosophy, with the highest sense of public duty, and with an intelligent and generous sympathy with the wants of the people with whom he is identified, there is no one better fitted to assume the high functions of the Executive office, or who would bring to the discharge of its duties a warmer or more unselfish patriotism.

"* * * If it be important to select and commission a leader in the coming campaign of tried ability, with a profound knowledge of all public and economic questions, and whose heroic and historic past shall give the world assurance of a man," then place your approval upon his candidacy this day."

Mayor Al Berry, of Newport, in nominating Hon. C. M. Clay, did not come up to the expectations of his friends. He gave a fine sketch of his candidate's private and public career, and said "A better man could not be found in the Commonwealth of Kentucky to fairly, honestly justly, administer the high office which he seeks."

Theo. Hallam, of Covington, did not come up to expectations either, in nominating Mercer County's choice. In closing his speech he said: "Hardin's record is unimpeachable. He has been as good a citizen, as kind a man, as any man within your border. His study has been to ward off the dangers against the people."

At last night's night's session the Committee on Credentials filed its report, which was unanimous and was unanimously adopted.

The resolutions express unflinching devotion to Democratic principles; declare tariff reform the paramount question before the American people; denounce the McKinley bill as the most outrageous measure ever proposed in Congress, and demand free coinage of silver.

The silver blank occasioned a bitter wrangle, during which there was an exciting scene between Senator Blackburn and Hon. Jas. A. McKenzie. "Somebody's out of humor in Kentucky with Grover," McKenzie shouted, and the sally at Blackburn brought down the house, the cheers and laughter lasting several minutes. "He's got more sense than all the politicians who have spoken against him and written platforms. All hell can't keep him from being President."

During the excitement, the resolutions were declared adopted, and the convention finally took the first ballot. Result:

Brown	2754
Clay	2643
Clardy	1904
Hardin	1864

The convention then adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

Nothing had been heard from the convention's work this morning, up to the time of going to press.

The river column of the Commercial Gazette, May 13th, contained this interesting reminiscence: "Forty-five years ago to-day a brand new ferryboat at New Richmond, O., came out on her first trip. Her propelling power consisted of four blind horses and a 16-foot steering oar was the pilot wheel. Captain Lew Morris, then a lad of fifteen years, was the chief engineer and head pilot. When he wanted to stop the boat he sang out 'whoa.' When the day's work was done he would take the engines on shore, jump astride of one and take the other three in tow and put them in a pasture. Since that time he has seen considerable changes in steamboating, having been on 82 different boats as Captain and Clerk, and on one boat he made 2,871 daily trips."

In 1879, a two-story brick house at Paris was sold for $10,000. Last Saturday the same property was sold at public auction and brought only $2,050. Colonel Craddock, of the Kentuckian, is the purchaser, and will fit it up for a printing office.

BAND OF ASSASSINS.

Their Work Revealed by New Orleans Citizens.

THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE.

The Loss of Many Lives in the Crescent City Fully Accounted for by a Special Committee Appointed by the Mayor. Recommendations Made for the Remedy of Such Occurrences.

NEW ORLEANS, May 15.—The committee of fifty appointed by the mayor on the 18th of October last under a resolution of the city council to investigate the matter of the existence of secret societies or bands of oath-bound assassins, which had taken many lives in the city, and to devise means and the most effectual measures for the uprooting of these assassins, yesterday submitted its final report, which is substantially as follows:

The first work of the committee was to obtain a report of ninety-four assassinations by Italians and Sicilians, and where the accused escaped for the want of evidence. The results of the Hennessey trial demonstrated to the people that no one was safe from the mysterious band that was operating regardless of the law. It was only when this fear grew into absolute conviction, that the people themselves rose in their might and took the law in their own hands. With the occurrence of that day the committee had no connection, nor did they have any knowledge of it.

The report then goes on to show the existence of the Mafia here, and says the Italian consul admitted the existence of that society to a sub-committee, which called on him and promised to furnish the names of its leaders and other information regarding it, but at the last moment declined to do so, claiming that as it was an extra judicial body he did not feel warranted in giving the promised information.

The committee then suggests the following as possibly being the needful remedies to stamp out the evil:

First—The regulation of immigration.

Second—Reform in the criminal laws and administration of criminal justice.

Third—A law recognizing the existence of a bar association and endowing it with full powers to try and disbar any attorney whose evil practice renders him unworthy of being an officer of a court.

The report concludes: The only radical remedy which suggests itself to us is the entire prohibition of immigration from Sicily and lower Italy. It was found necessary to prohibit Chinese immigration, and congress passed the necessary law. The danger to California from Chinese was no greater than the danger to this state from the Sicilian and southern Italians. We have had long experience with this people, and that experience has been a sad one. They are undesirable citizens, and there is no reason why they should be permitted to participate in the blessings of a freedom and civilization which they are not able to appreciate, but which they refuse to understand or accept.
